

"Batter Up!" With Mickey and Donald!

Mickey and Donald have been playing as hard as they can in the exciting Disney World Series. They have taken turns pitching and batting many times, but they haven't made any scores. Do you suppose that's why Donald looks so angry sometimes? Perhaps Huey, Dewey and Louie will have better luck? Can you find them on your other guide sheets and draw them playing ball? Do you think that all of them should play on Donald's team? Draw them playing on the team you like. What positions should the little ducks play? It's fun to turn your guide sheet over and draw a picture of the players running or batting in a different direction. Try it!

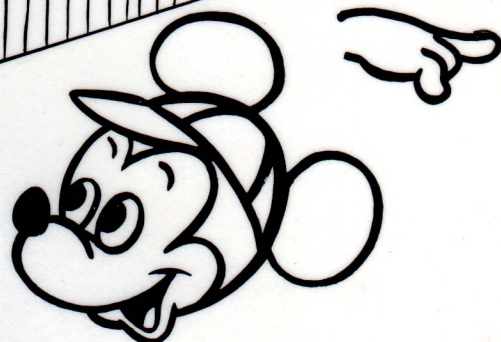

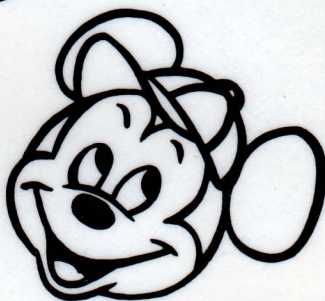

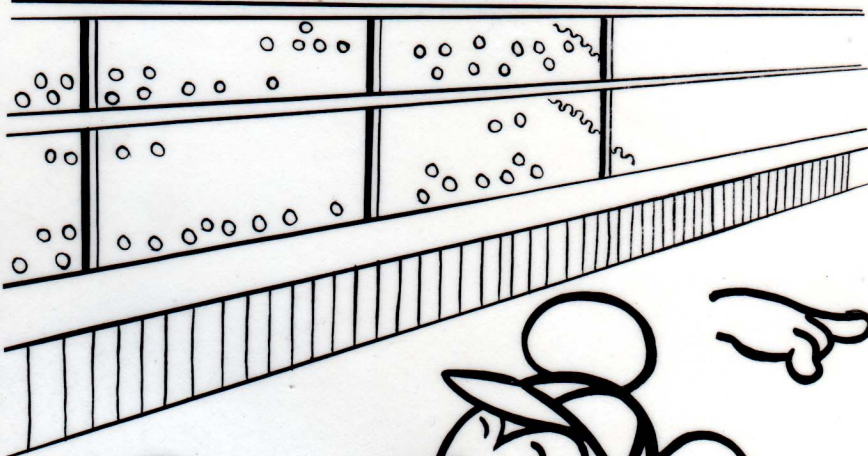

What color should the different teams' uniforms be? Color all of the caps, shirts and trousers of one team with your school colors. Would you like to put your school initials on the caps of one team? Put your school colors on some of the stadium pennants too!

Draw The Disney World Series!

Mickey Mouse and Donald Duck have taken their teams to the World Series! The contest is sure to be exciting if you draw it that way! Before you draw your stories about the big game, use your other guide sheets to choose the characters that will play on each team. Would Pinocchio make a good ball player? Would he need a bat if he had a long wooden nose? Whose team should he play on? What about the Three Little Pigs or the Seven Dwarfs? When you have decided who shall play on each team, you can begin your picture story. Will you have an umpire call the balls and strikes? Will he have a black and white striped shirt? Perhaps Goofy would make a good umpire! Use as many guide sheets as you can to draw your color story!

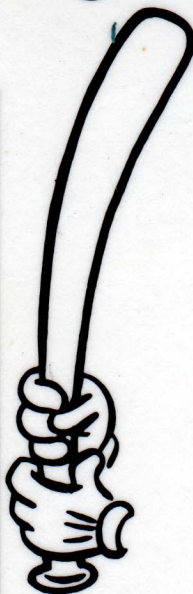

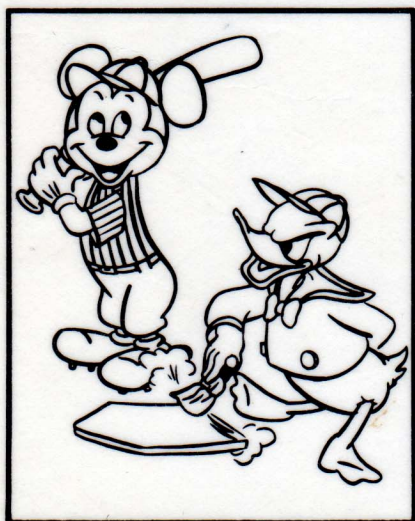

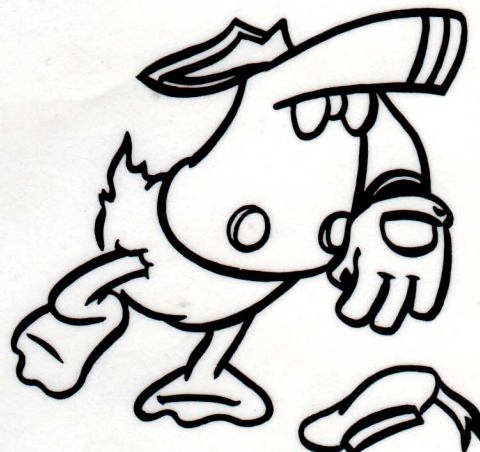

Fly Ball

When you draw your World Series game, show the pitchers throwing different kinds of pitches — fast ball, "spit ball" or "bean ball!" Do you know what a "bean ball" looks like? Then draw it if you like. Can you draw a picture of a player hitting a silly "fly ball?"

Fast Ball

Draw The Seven Dwarfs!

The Seven Dwarfs are Snow White's best friends. These tiny people dig in the earth for precious stones, so they are called miners. Each looks different and just like his name! What should they carry with them to their mine, tools? What else?

Draw a picture of the Dwarfs going to work in their mine. Try to draw a picture of Snow White with each Dwarf. Who carries the lantern? Name all of the Dwarfs

Will you put animals in the drawing? Find animals you like on the other guide sheets. Turn your guide sheets over when you draw to help you get more story ideas!

*Draw Dumbo
The Flying Elephant!*

Dumbo

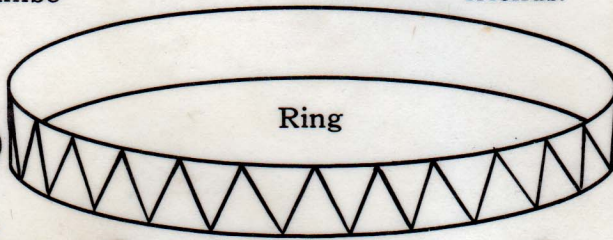

Dumbo is the world's one and only flying elephant! He has his very own circus, too, and many of his friends perform with him. Bongo the baby bear rides a unicycle. Do you know what that is? Timothy is the ringmaster and wears a colorful suit. Thumper the rabbit keeps time for the circus band. Draw a circus story about Dumbo and his friends.

Draw The Three Little Pigs TV Story!

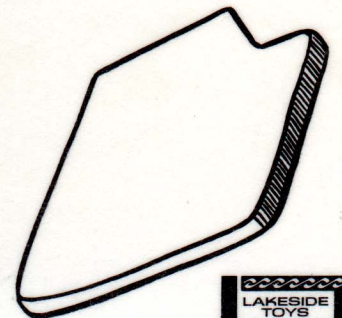

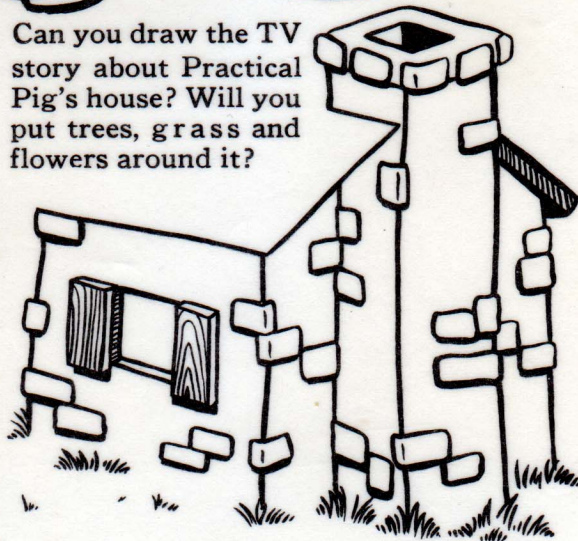

The Three Little Pigs have names that tell what they do on television. Can you draw colorful clothes on each pig and show him doing what each does best? All of the Little Pigs like to play musical instruments, but Practical Pig won't play until all of his work is finished. Can you draw the Little Pigs playing baseball? What other games? Use your other guide sheets to help you draw what you like.

Remember what the Bad Wolf did to the Little Pigs? Piper Pig had a straw house and the Wolf blew it down. Fiddler Pig had a stick house and the Wolf blew that down. But Practical Pig built a house of stone and brick, and all of the Little Pigs ran there and were safe!

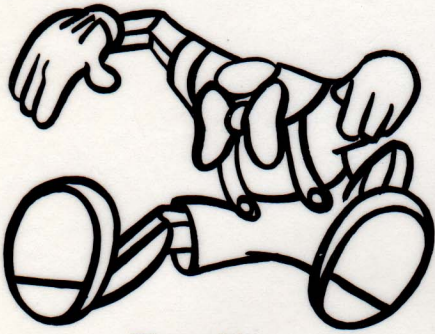

Can you draw the TV story about Practical Pig's house? Will you put trees, grass and flowers around it?

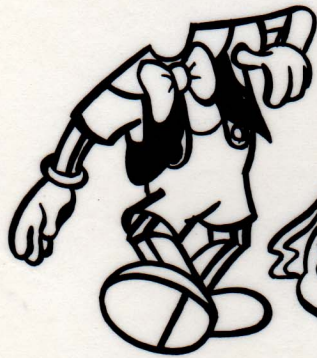

Draw Pinocchio and His Friends!

The story of Pinocchio is exciting! Pinocchio was carved from wood by Geppetto, the puppet maker. Geppetto made him so well and painted him so beautifully, that he almost looked real. Try to draw and color the story of Pinocchio. Draw pictures of him with his friends, Cleo, the goldfish, Figaro, the Cat, and Jiminy Cricket. Can you show Figaro teasing Cleo in her bowl?

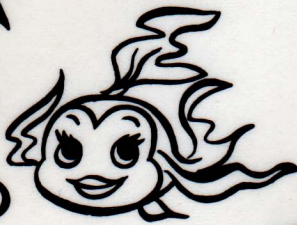

Jiminy wears very fancy clothes and stays near Pinocchio to remind him to be good. Whenever Pinocchio gets in trouble he just whistles and Jiminy comes on the hop! Can you draw such a picture? Do you know what happens when Pinocchio tells a fib? His nose gets longer . . . and longer . . . and longer, like a tree limb!

Draw Lady, Tramp, and Their Friends!

One day Lady was very unhappy. A mean People-relation came to visit and brought along her Siamese cats. They were horrible! Poor Lady was muzzled and chained so she couldn't do what she likes to do best — run errands for her People and play. So Lady ran away from home and made friends with Tramp — who had no home at all!

Then one day the People-relation and her cats went away. Lady went back home and took Tramp with her to live in the big house with her People. Now they both work hard for their People fetching slippers, mail and the evening newspaper. When they aren't doing their errands, they like to play with their friends Jock, the Scottie, and Trusty, the Bloodhound.

Look on your guide sheets for more story ideas and other animals for them to play with. Be sure to color every story that you draw!

Here's Alice In Wonderland!

Remember the story of Alice in Wonderland? Now you can draw your own color picture - story of Alice and her adventures. Do you remember why she used the key? Here is the White Rabbit with his watch, gloves, and magic fan. When Alice carries the fan, she gets smaller and smaller. When she nibbles on one side of the mushroom or drinks from the magic "drink me" bottle, she gets smaller too! When Alice nibbles on the other side of the mushroom, she grows and grows. Can you draw a picture of Alice at the Mad Hatter's tea party? Don't forget to show the March Hare at the party. Draw the queen's soldier with his lance. Can he play the bugle?

Ludwig

Draw Ludwig's Fishing Story!

Ludwig von Drake has asked Goofy to take his fishing picture. Chip 'n Dale might ruin the picture by playing a big joke! What will happen if Goofy shoots his camera? Is the dynamite real? What other characters can you think of for Goofy to photograph? See how many other story ideas you can get from your other guide sheets. Would Ludwig von Drake make a good umpire for a ball game? What tricks do you think he might do in a circus? When you finish your pictures, use as many different colors as you can!

Draw and Color Cinderella!

This is Cinderella the poor chargirl. Remember how cruel her stepmother and stepsisters were? She had to clean out the fireplace, scrub the floor and do all the hard work! Try to draw poor Cinderella's story. Dress her working in ragged clothes and put patches on her soiled dress and touches of soot on her hands and face.

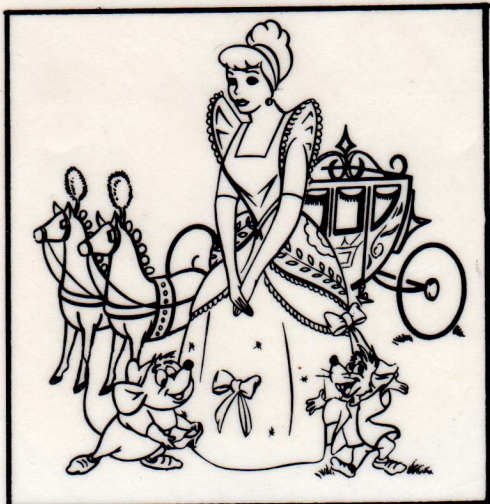

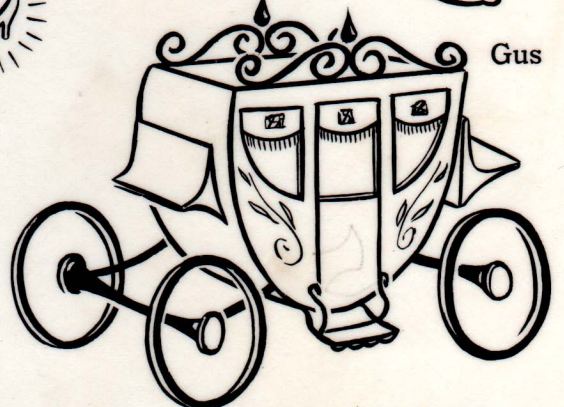

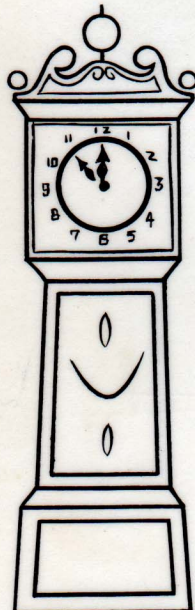

Do you remember how Cinderella's Fairy Godmother helped her? Draw Cinderella in her beautiful gown, going to the ball. Show her friends Gus and Jac admiring her and handing Cinderella her glass slippers. What will happen to Cinderella when the clock strikes 12? Cinderella loves animals so use your other guide sheets to help you put more colorful animals into your pictures.

Jac

Gus

This is Cinderella's magic carriage! Draw a picture of the carriage taking Cinderella to the ball. Where will Gus and Jac ride? How many horses should pull the carriage? Draw in as many as you like. To show Cinderella returning from the ball, turn your guide sheet over and draw the carriage going the other way!

Scrooge McDuck Gets Caught!

Scrooge McDuck has a big secret. For the longest time he has been filling up money bin after money bin in his big vaults. But no one has ever seen him carry a penny! Can you draw a color scene showing Huey, Dewey and Louie discovering Scrooge McDuck's secret? How much money do you think Scrooge keeps in his top hat? Can you draw a picture showing other characters learning McDuck's secret? Wouldn't it be exciting if Goofy got a picture of McDuck's top hat being knocked off? Use your other guide sheets for more Scrooge McDuck color stories.
